Wall Hanging Sensory Light Panel with Coloured Rods

Stunning, appealing and highly rewarding, our wall hanging rod wall panel with a white light background.

People with vision impairment and limited motor skills love the chunky rods and the interactive, cause-effect, multi-sensory creativity this wall panel provides.

A highly visual stimulus as well as the opportunity for creative interaction and control by the simple slotting.

Teaching with a sensory light panel can be highly effective for engaging children, particularly in early childhood, special education, and sensory integration settings.

These panels provide visual and tactile stimulation and are great for helping children with sensory processing, attention, and learning through play.
